mile southwest of Harrisonburg, where Banks was.

The withdrawal of Jackson's movement was something marvelous. It was important for him to attack Milroy and defeat him before he could join Banks at Harrisonburg. He accomplished it.

The main force of the Shenandoah campaign, May 7, the Federal pickets were driven in. At sunrise May 8 the Confederate troops marched toward the village of McDowell. They took position on Slatersburg hill. Milroy sent out a force to dislodge them, and the battle of Bull Pasture, McDowell or Slatersburg hill began.

There was a sharp engagement. Milroy was defeated and fell back just as Schenck came up with reinforcements. But it was too late to save the day, and the Federal forces retreated toward Franklin. The Confederates followed them and captured a supply of military stores, which Jackson captured.

Immediately after this fight Banks retreated toward the Shenandoah. He fortified himself, so as to protect the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. Halting there to rest, he sent out a force to dislodge the Federal troops. Having driven back Milroy and Schenck, the next move on the Shenandoah was to take the town of Winchester. This was done by the withdrawal of Schenck's division. Jackson therefore turned his attention to Banks.

The three Federal armies in northern Virginia that had been sent against Jackson were severely miles apart, east, west and south. On May 20, Jackson moved on from Stonewall Jackson marched against Banks near Front Royal or McDowell. He was not far from the Shenandoah river.

Robert H. Milroy was born in Indiana in 1814. He was educated as a lawyer, but served as a volunteer in the Mexican war. When the civil war began he served as a volunteer in the Union army. He was promoted to the rank of Major. He was killed at the battle of Bull Pasture, May 8, 1862.

Winchester, June 1. Jackson's advance was beaten back. Victory: Jackson was at Slatersburg. Between afternoon May 20 and daylight June 1, Jackson's advance was beaten back. Victory: Jackson was at Slatersburg. Between afternoon May 20 and daylight June 1, Jackson's advance was beaten back. Victory: Jackson was at Slatersburg.

It was Gen. Ewell—Richard Stoddard Ewell—who drove back Jackson's advance at Slatersburg and enabled Jackson to reach that place in safety. Ewell was born in Columbia, Mo. He was a West Point graduate. He was one of the leading officers of the civil war on both sides. He was a Mexican war officer, but soon turned to the Union cause. He was killed at the battle of Cedar Creek, October 22, 1862.

Accordingly, May 23, he made a forceful attack on Col. Kelly's force at Front Royal, and on the 24th he moved on to the Shenandoah campaign. There was nothing new between Stonewall Jackson and Banks.

Banks retreated with his small force further north. He left Slatersburg and started for Winchester.

It was a race and a chase between Banks and Jackson to the Potomac. Jackson passed off the forces of Fremont or McDowell, and then moved on to the Shenandoah campaign. He was determined to push on, surround Banks if possible and destroy his army before it could reach the Potomac.

Winchester became the scene of a fight, the fourth in the campaign. Jackson's army of 15,000 men defeated the Federal army of 11,000 men. The battle was fought on May 24 and 25. The southern soldiers pursued in larger and larger numbers. There was nothing new between Stonewall Jackson and Banks.

From Winchester Banks retreated to Martinsburg. He only waited here two days, and then moved on to the Shenandoah campaign. He was determined to push on, surround Banks if possible and destroy his army before it could reach the Potomac.

On May 27 Jackson moved on and had religious services performed in camp, in which he gave thanks to God for the victory of the Shenandoah campaign. He had marched from his camp south of Lynch in three days a distance of sixty miles, and had fought two battles on the way.

Seats in the New York stock exchange now sell at $20,000, the lowest price in many years. All because speculators fail and the values of their vacant seats are frequently the only valuable assets.

Henry Villard, who some years ago failed disastrously in business, now represents German capital amounting to millions of dollars, and it is said that he has a larger command of money capital than almost any other man in Wall Street.

General B. F. Butler, of Boston, owns the original yacht America, first winner of the cup which the English yachts have ever since been trying to capture. The America is a good boat, but would stand a poor show in a contest with the newer fast-boats.

A kluge has been issued in Bulgaria ordering the election for members of the Sobranje to take place on October 9. The new Sobranje will doubtless be called upon to elect a Prince, and if the choice does not fall on Ferdinand, he will have nothing to do but to withdraw from the country.

The title of tourists travel has turned from Florida, where it has wended its way for many a year hoping to find health, strength and release from the rigor of our northern winters. Two cold winters, in the south with insufficient clothing and shelter were enough to drive people westward searching for greener fields and pastures new.

There is good humor in the brief reference made by the Atlanta Constitution to a memorable anniversary, in these words: "Twenty-three years ago, a route agent named W. T. Sherman piloted the biggest party of excursionists into Atlanta that ever visited Georgia. Efforts were made to entertain the party here, but they decided to extend their trip to Savannah."

The burning of the theater at Exeter, England, comes so close upon the destruction of the Olympic Theater in Paris that the attention of the municipal authorities the world over is sure to be called, as it has been before, to the matter of exits in theaters and public halls. The lives that were lost in these two disasters were sacrificed upon the altar of criminal indifference.

Charles G. Leland, the well-known writer and poet, in a recent letter to the St. James Gazette, thinks that the air to which the words of "John Brown's body lies moldering in the grave" are set is of African origin. He says that while Sherman's army was marching through Atlanta to Savannah, the air when played by the military bands was recognized as an old favorite by the negroes.

At most of the scientific stations in China, where the totality of the eclipse of the sun Aug. 19, was visible, the result was very unsatisfactory, more especially at Shirakawa, where the United States expedition, under the direction of Prof. Todd, was located. Twenty minutes after the eclipse began the sun was hidden by the clouds and remained hidden during the total eclipse. It was like a dark night.

A syndicate of capitalists in Buffalo, N. Y., have bought a tract of pine timber land, in North Carolina, which is sixteen miles wide and twenty-five miles long, making a territory of four hundred square miles, parts of two counties. $750,000 is the price paid for this great estate, with its valuable forests. A company has been incorporated to cut the trees into lumber and ship it over the country for sale.

Both business and laboring men in New York are denouncing the celebration of last winter, which established the Saturday half-holiday and the labor holiday. There were holidays enough before, during which business and the industries were forced to lie idle. The fifty-two half-holidays and the labor holiday make twenty-seven additional holidays in the year, during which trade, industry and wages alike stop. According to the New York papers, those who live by man's labor have made up their minds that the loss of wages is not compensated by so much recreation.

A number of very interesting facts are brought out in the report of the parliamentary committee which has had under consideration the perpetual pension list. The committee, who seem to have examined the subject pretty thoroughly, estimate that the office of grand falconer has cost the country more than £2,000,000, since hawking became a lost sport in England. Let the Duke of St. Allans still receive £205 yearly for the office. This was one of the securities the reform agitators tried to abolish in 1831, but the conservative feeling triumphed, and the Duke retained his pension because James II gave it to one of his ancestors. The list contains numerous cases of like character. One lady draws a few pounds yearly because some of her ancestors had a rent charge on the estate of a Roman Catholic who was attained in Elizabeth's time. Earl Nelson still gets £5,000 a year for the services of his grandfather, but the heirs of the Duke of Marlborough, Lord Arundel and William Penn, have compounded for a lump sum. The committee favor the abolition of all hereditary pensions, and urge strongly that where no service is rendered the annuity cease with the present holder.

The Seven Death-Sentenced Anarchists of Chicago Must Be Hanged on the 11th of November.

The Illinois Supreme Court Judges Unanimously Confirm the Finding of the Lower Court.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 14.—The decision of the Illinois supreme court in the Chicago anarchists case was announced this morning. The decision affirms the finding of the lower court.

OUR NATIONAL CONSTITUTION.

Is and Owing to the Celebration of the Founding of the Republic.

Saturday the 17th, was the last day of the Philadelphia Celebration of the Constitution of the United States, and in some respects, the greatest. The whole body of the people, with vast exceptions from abroad, gave themselves up to its full enjoyment.

At the memorial meeting at Independence Hall, the appearance of the president and his wife at the head of a double column of distinguished leaders created a perfect storm of applause as they came down the center aisle towards their place in front. The president, leaning on the arm of Ex-Minister Kasson, and directly behind them the Secretary of State, Mr. Cleveland, leaning on the arm of Thomas H. Johnson, chairman of the committee on the reception of distinguished guests, next came Secretary Bayard, Daniel Lamont and wife and Secretary Fairchild.

After all had reached the stand, Bishop Potter and wife, followed by all the other distinguished leaders, the president, leaning on the arm of Ex-Minister Kasson, and directly behind them the Secretary of State, Mr. Cleveland, leaning on the arm of Thomas H. HOME AND COUNTY NEWS.

We Are Enjoying Good fall weather.

Do your fall plowing.

We continue court proceedings in this issue.

The walks in our public park are completed. Now for a good fence.

The Chaska Band made a host of friends and admirers in Minneapolis, and at the State Fair.

This week will wind up Court business for this fall. It was a busy term.

The "Devil has been running the office this week, so excuse short comings.

J. A. Reitz, Photograph Gallery, will be open at Chaska, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday of each week.

So much of our time was taken up in Court this and last week, that we were unable to devote much time to the columns of the Herald.

Our Monthly fair next Saturday, Peter is getting up a premium list for regular fair at same time. See notice elsewhere.

Supr. Brady held an examination of teachers here on Tuesday. We did not learn whether the attendance was large or not.

From present indications Court will hardly finish up this week. If nothing happens, the jury trials will be disposed of by Monday evening or Tuesday of next week.

Mrs. Bierstetzel, the estimable wife of our young merchant, John Bierstetzel, has been quite sick, but we are pleased to announce that she is rapidly recovering, and is now out of danger.

Mr. Reitz of Dahlgren, father of Levi, suffered an attack of Palsy last Saturday, and at this writing, Monday morning is considered in a very dangerous condition. He is nearly 50 years of age.

Our young friend George Siegel of Dahlgren, was tendered happy by his wife last week. She presented him with a handsome young Miss, the perfect image of her mother. We extend our congratulations.

We call the attention of our readers to the large number of new gals which appear in this issue, among the number there is one relating to the appointment of Receiver for the firm of Krause & Ketcher of Watertown.

We received a letter from our old friend Reitz Wagner of Waconia, on Friday, informing us that his family had been increased by the addition of a young daughter, and he reports mother and daughter doing well. We extend our congratulations.

We call the attention of our readers to the auction notice of John Johnson, of Waconia. He will sell a large lot of stock, farm machinery, tools &c. His sale will take place at Coney Island station on the 28th inst. Be sure and attend.

Uncle Adam Rens was badly jammed one day last week, while unloading a lot of goods from his express wagon. A large dry goods box fell onto him, bruising him severely. He is recovering now and will soon be out. It was only recently that Adam celebrated his 70th birthday, a hale and hearty person in every respect.

Wedding Bells.

Henry Kloss Jr. of Dahlgren, will be married to Miss Preiss, daughter of Mike Preiss.

Wm. Beutow also of Dahlgren will marry to Miss Emma Schmidt of Benton on Friday. We extend all parties our hearty congratulations.

Chaska Fair.

Read the Chaska Fair notice which appears in this issue of the Herald. Premium lists have been distributed which give full particulars. The Carver County Band has also been secured for the occasion and a grand ball will wind up the entertainment at Concert Hall.

Struck by Lightning.

Lightning struck the barn of Peter Willens in Chanhassen on Tuesday evening, setting fire to the building which proved a total loss. One heifer and about 20 tons of hay were also destroyed, the loss amounting to about $1,000. The barn and contents insured in the Laketown Mutual Ins. Company.

Card of Thanks.

The undersigned return their sincere thanks to the many friends and neighbors for the kindness extended us during our recent affliction.

Benton, Sept. 20, 1887.

J. P. STRECKENS & Family.

Death of Mrs. J. P. Streckens.

Mrs. Barbara Streckens, wife of J. P. Streckens of Benton, and Mother of County Auditor Streckens of this village, died at her home, of old age, on Friday, Sept. 16th aged 83 years.

Mrs. S. had been in remarkably good health for a person of her age and her sudden death was somewhat of a surprise. She was a lady of genial disposition and greatly beloved by her neighbors. Her aged husband and surviving children have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in their affliction.

The funeral from the Catholic Church, Cologne, on Sunday was attended by an immense concourse of people, the Rev. Father Braun, delivering an eloquent sermon.

Died.

At her residence in the town of Dahlgren, on Thursday, Sept. 15th 1887, Magdalena, wife of Lorenz Eichmiller, of heart disease aged 62 years.

Mrs. E. was one of the pioneer settlers of Dahlgren, coming to the County way back in the fifties, and she, in conjunction with her husband, labored as other pioneers did, to make a home in the big woods of this County. She lived long enough to enjoy the fruits of her early labors and died in a beautiful house surrounded by ever comfort that wealth could procure. She has been suffering from heart disease for two years or more, being confined to her bed most of the time during all of that period, and death was a welcome messenger.

She was buried in the old Lutheran Cemetery in third town, on Saturday, her old neighbors turning out en masse to pay their last sad respect to her remains.

The Carver County Fair.

The annual County Fair will be held this year, at Carver, commencing on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 23 and 24. We are informed by the Secretary that the display of everything promises to excel anything heretofore seen at our fairs. We hope the attendance will be large and a success.

CARVER COUNTY BAND.

On Wednesday, morning Sept. 14th 1887, The Carver County Band, composed of local musicians from Chaska and Young America, under the Leadership of W. D. Rosbach, left for the State Fair to take part in the Tenth Tournament. As the boys clad in their new uniforms, and playing a familiar air, marched to the depot, they presented a very impressive spectacle, and one well calculated to encourage the hope, if not the conviction, in all who saw them, that they would soon return bearing the honors which their merits so richly deserved.

In the contest for the prizes the Carver County Band took the second prize (150.00) having made 157 points out of a possible 200, while the Red Wing Band which took the first prize made 160 points out of a possible two hundred.

In justice to our boys it is only fair to state that in this contest four professional players hired especially for the occasion played with the Red Wing Band. This fact in connection with the closeness of the contest, fully justifies the claim that Carver County now possesses the best Amateur band in the state when we consider that an organization of not over six weeks, and in their first competitive play, they came within four points of making an old hand entered for the sixth time in a band tournament and assisted by four professional players we can not too highly appreciate or estimate the honor which the boys have won for themselves and for the county which they represent.

The Prize piece "Reminiscences of Wagner" is one of the hardest pieces of band music ever written, and it was the subject of much wonder and comment among professional musicians that any band could gain the necessary proficiency in so short a time to play it so creditably.

In the contest for prize for best band in the Carver County Band carried off the first prize consisting of a gold mounted baton, valued at ($25.) after the regular contest all the bands together played our beautiful national air "America" and during this play Mr. Rosbach was given the honor of acting as master of ceremonies and Director of all the bands together.

In the evening our band was given a royal reception by Paul Schmedemann of Minneapolis.

On Thursday the 15th the band played at the fair grounds under the auspices of the Minn. Traveling Music Association. Early the same evening furnished music for the traveling men parade which was headed by Mayor Ames and Drum Major Geo. Henk. Later in the evening played an Overture to their departure Friday morning Mayor Ames of Minneapolis presented them with a broom, handsomely decorated with silk ribbons of various colors.

The band returned to Chaska at 10 o'clock Friday morning and one hour later took the train for Young America where they were royally received and hospitably entertained till the hour for the return of the Chaska boys in the afternoon, as the Chaska band left for the State Fair.

The Carver County Band, as now organized is composed of 26 pieces and all of the members are professional musicians, but all are engaged in industrial pursuits in our midst. In recognition of the great honor they have done themselves and Carver County, we should not fail to always be ready to give them the moral and financial support which they may need to insure their permanent success as an organization and to give them facilities for more frequent practice.

The active members of the band are:

W. D. Rosbach Leader, Geo. W. Henk, Axel Malmgren, Karl Gorn, John Bierstetzel, H. Kloss, H. Bieri, A. E. Winnege, H. Gorn, H. Schramm, Oscar Malmgren, Jos. Jos. W. Kloss, W. Doeltz, W. Trick, Aug. SHAKOPEE
The regular monthly fair, and the premiums offered by the fair association for farm produce and stock, brought a large crowd of people to Chaska on Saturday. The streets of our beautiful village were crowded with country people early in the morning, the Chaska Cornet Band furnished them with music during the entire day, from the public square stand.

The display of stock and poultry was good, also that of farm produce considering the short notice given.

The entry secretary, Mr. Fred Illis, promised to furnish us with the list of awards, but has failed to do so, and we are obliged to go to press without it.
